Olympians To Stage Original Play "Afraid" Under Direction Of Midby

Drama Depicts Story Of Contemporary Life

Olympian Athletic-Literary society will present an original play, "Afraid," written by Professor A. J. Finkbeiner, Friday, April 28, at 8 p. m. in the college auditorium. The play is under the direction of Willard Midby, Oly program chairman.

Setting of the play is a room in a U. S. O. center which is used as a chaplain's office, and the cast selected includes Fred Thompson, a chaplain, Willard Midby; Jim Thorpe, a civilian, Norris Helstrom; Bob Benton, a flyer, Raymond Friberg; Mary Smith, an Army nurse, Ida Mae Boyd; Voice of conscience, Leta Slemmer; Betty Hartman, U. S. O. worker, Mildred Poelke; Grace, a public secretary, Harriet Keefer. Reader will be Oral Tish.

The struggle of a young serviceman, and the guidance given him by an understanding chaplain is depicted in the play.

Preceding the play will be a prologue, followed by a piano solo played by Ellen Joyce Ferris; and octette number; a trumpet solo by Virgil Vail, a dramatic reading, LaMont Lee; and a pantomime by Edgar Kincaid.

Carol Hempel is Oly president, and sponsors are Professors Marian Washburn and Roger Taylor.

N. H. S. Choir Gives Outstanding Chapel

Presenting a concert of choral numbers, the a capella choir of Nampa high school appeared in chapel last Wednesday, April 20.

Under the direction of Tom B. Turbyfill, head of the music department at the high school, the choir sang the following numbers: America, a symphonic poem by Ernest Block; In the Garden of Tomorrow, by Jessie L. Deppen; Still As the Night, by Carl Bohm. Thine Is the Greatness, by Walter Aschenbrenner; The Rosary by Ethelbert Nevin, Evelyn Metzger, soloist.

Sunrise on Easter Morning featured Catherine Norquist, Helen Antrim and Donna Snyder as trumpeters; Ave Maria by Gounod, Shirley Perkins, lyric soprano, soloist, with June Waterhouse playing a violin obligato; and Dawn, by Pearl Curran.

During the intermission solos were sung by seven members of the choir. They were The Builder, Robert Keim, baritone; Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life, Nancy Mae Lewis, soprano; Myself When Young, Roy Harper, bass; Day Dreams, Shirley Booth, coloratura soprano; The Three Grenadiers, Bob Gwilliam, baritone; Had My Song But Wings for Flying, Margaret Keim; mezzo-soprano; Maids of Cadiz, Shirley Perkins, lyric soprano. A girls' quintet sang The Holy City.

Open Letter To Mrs. Corlett

Merely saying that we're sorry you've been ill doesn't tell you how much we really miss you when you're not here, and just how much your friendliness and interest means to every N. N. C. student.

You exemplify to all of us those qualities of quiet charm and good breeding that bespeak real character . . . we hope by the time that this is printed you'll be well on the road back to good health. We miss you!

Sullivan Has Lead In A. D. P. Program

Friday evening, in the college auditorium, the Alpha Delta Phi literary society presented the play, "Triumphant Love," in one act, written by Professor A. J. Finkbeiner, and directed by Miss Agnes Roberts, freshman, and second semester program chairman for the ADP society.

"Triumphant Love" was an allegorical play portraying the love of God for fallen humanity. David Sullivan was chosen as lead, playing the part of Hosea. Hosea, a type of Christ, gives his all to prove to his people, how God has loved and cared for them as a nation. As Hosea is caught in the cross fire of sin, as Jesus paid the penalty of sin with his own life and that at the hands of his own household.

The part of Hosea's wife, Gomer, was ably portrayed by Grace Yoder. Other characters included Juanita Eastley, as Racheb, Gomer's servant, George Knowles as Melchar, servant; Earl Rogers, as Elkanah, chief priest; Art Mottram as merchant Achan; Gomer's three children, Lore, Lo-ruhemma and Jezreel, portrayed by Mary Carlson, Dorothy Nees, and Ed Hurn respectively; Malchus, a priest, played by Glenn Dennis; Aaron, by Paul McNutt; and Messenger, Olive Lawrence. The Temple Singers were Mary Harmon, Miriam Eastley and Wanda Davis.

N. N. C. Coeds Devote Leisure Hours To Nurses Aide Work At Hospital

They probably didn't come to college with the idea of learning to tell aches and pains apart, or to learn to bathe, dress and feed the ailing Mrs. Jones in the hospital across from the campus, but they still seem to have mixed that in with their English and Philosophy.

We're talking about the N. N. C. coeds who have volunteered for Nurses Aide training and have earned the right to wear the plain blue and white uniform of that commendable organization.

A roll call of these girls results in an answer of "present" from Donna Hoxie, Zola Alyea, Doris Blomquist, Ruth Barker, Virginia Galloway, and Jessie Phillips.

A vital part of the war effort the Nurses Aid program was created to alleviate conditions resulting from overcrowded hospitals and a shortage of nurses.

SENIORS HONORED AT INVESTITURE

Commencement exercises for this year were initiated at the annual investiture services held in chapel last Friday morning, April 21.

Two members of the junior class David Carter and Carol Hempel, led the processional which was headed by Dr. Corlett, Dr. D. R. Gish, Professor A. J. Finkbeiner and Professor Aline Swann.

After a brief devotional period, Dr. Corlett presented the class of 1944, and introduced the class president, Roy Butchart. In concluding his talk, Mr. Butchart paid tribute to the class members who are now in the service. The audience paid tribute by standing and giving a round of applause.

Dr. Corlett then introduced each member of the class. He told briefly of their college activities and told the department from which they were receiving their degree. One student from each department gave a talk to represent his group. Also included on the program were numbers by a girls' quartette and men's septette, and a reading by Roscoe Townsend.

Four students are to receive a Master's degree in Theology: Roscoe Knight, Lawrence Lancaster, Roy F. Knight, and Edgar Kincaid, who represented this group with a talk.

The Bachelor of Theology degree goes to LaMonte Lee, Charles Rowe, John Cotner, Robert Swartz, Oral Tish and Eric Jordan, representative.

Receiving degrees of Bachelor of Science in Nursing are Marjory Davis Carter, Elizabeth McKay, Leona Birks, Elnora Johnson, Pearl Jones Bates, Marjorie Williamson Howard, Julia Lien Wyatt, and Eleanor Pierson, representative.

In Sympathy

Students and faculty of N. N. C. extend deepest sympathy to Arlene Aman, freshman student, whose father, E. V. Aman passed away Sunday evening at Kennewick, Washington.

Dowd Elected Vice President, Miller, Davis Named as Publication Heads

Bob Hempel, popular junior, who was elected student body president for the 1944-45 school term. He will assume his leadership at the beginning of the fall term.

HEMPEL ELECTED S. B. PRESIDENT

Bob Hempel, prominent junior theology student, was named N. N. C. student body president for the 1944-45 school term at an election held Tuesday, April 18. Runner-up was Harvey Peterson, also a junior who is business manager of the 1944 Oasis.

Hempel and Petersen were nominated by secret balloting from the student body at large during the chapel hour on April 12. Campaign managers for the two candidates were Wesley Young and Ed Dowd, respectively.

Hempel has been active in numerous organizations, including varsity basketball, athletic manager, a capella choir, Christian Worker's band, circulation manager of the Crusader and member of Zeta Kappa Rho honor society.

Expressing appreciation to the student body for his election, Hempel said, "I am interested in seeing N. N. C. go forward and will attempt to give an active leadership and an administration of which you may all be proud, and in which you may place your confidence."

The new president was introduced to the students by DeWitt McAbee, student body president.

APRIL 27 CLOSING DATE OF SUMMER SCHOOL ENTRY

With an expected enrollment of 50 students, the first session of the Northwest Nazarene college summer school, under the direction of Dr. D. R. Gish, will begin May 25 and end July 3 with the second session following from July 5 to August 11. Dr. Gish requests that all students register by Thursday, April 27, stating which courses they plan to take.

The schedule for the first session has been announced. The courses being offered and the instructors teaching those courses are as follows: Greek 101, Dooley; Sociology 1, Bower; English 106, Dooley; Philosophy 105, Gish; Biblical Literature 1, Corlett; Philosophy 110, (if German is not of

Grover, Brown And Petersen Win Posts

Following the election of student body president Bob Hempel one week ago, the remaining student body offices were filled at an election held during the chapel hour this morning. The post of vice president went to Ed Dowd, popular sophomore student who came to N. N. C. this year from Willamette University. Defeated by a narrow margin was James Fulkerson.

During his one year at N. N. C. Dowd has participated in numerous school affairs, being a Crusader staff member, Sigma Lambda Alpha program chairman, Spenserian speech club president, Varsity debater, basketball squad member, a capella choir, orchestra, and actor in several plays that have been presented this year.

Elected to edit the Crusader for the coming year was Wanda Davis, sophomore, who has had wide experience in the publications field. She was yearbook editor in high school and newspaper staff member, and during her two years of college at N. N. C. she has been an Oasis staff member, and has worked on the Crusader. Wallace Roseboro was runner-up for the editorship.

Edna Miller, this year's assistant editor of the Oasis was chosen to edit the book for 1945. She is an honor society member, has been outstanding in publications work during both high school and college. Virginia Kirley was the other aspirant.

Harvey Petersen, active junior, won over Jim Kayser for next year's student body treasurer. Petersen was a class officer during his sophomore year, has been a varsity debater, and was Crusader business manager last year. He has served as business manager of the 1944 Oasis.

Chosen to act as student body secretary for the coming school year was Ardeth Grover, sophomore from Boise, Idaho. She has been Alpha Delta Phi secretary for two semesters, secretary of the Athletic-Literary council, member of Philharmonic and a capella choir. Erlene Elmore was the other candidate for the position.

Academy student council representative, serving as sergeant-at-arms for the student body will be Harold Brown, high school junior. He has played basketball on the Academy team, is junior class treasurer, and Academy editor of the Crusader. Francis Sutherland was the other contestant.

NORMAL STUDENTS SECURE POSITIONS FOR NEXT YEAR

Mrs. Coral O. Young, head of the Normal department, announced this week the names of several students who are graduating from the department this year, who have already secured teaching positions for the coming year.

Frances Esser and Loisanne Johnson will teach in the Nampa public schools, Wilma Webster at Homedale, and Ilene Jones at Notus.

ELECTION POST MORTEM

Now that we're no longer plowing our way through heaps of campaign posters and handbills, or stumbling over soap box orators at every turn, we can view our student body elections retrospectively.

No matter what opinion they held, most students maintained a commendable spirit of fair play. One of the most impressive aspects of the entire campaign was the good sportsmanship shown and the good-natured manner of both losers and winners.

The majority has spoken and N. N. C. can turn her thoughts to active cooperation with the new student leaders, with a desire to make next year even more outstanding than any other.

SALUTE TO THE SENIORS

Nothing brings the impending commencement exercises quite so close as to see our erstwhile companionable classmates don their scholarly looking academic caps and gowns, and appear in the annual investiture service. Following an old N. N. C. tradition, they will be wearing these symbols of intellect to classes on certain days each week from now until graduation.

It takes a lot to make a senior . . . it takes more than the "only goons and dopes study" attitude that most of us enter college with in our freshman year.

It takes the hazing during freshman year, the getting-acquainted outlook of a soph, the now-I'm-in-the-swing swagger of a junior, and finally the intense concentration of a senior to make a graduate.

There have, no doubt, been times when even the most scholastically advanced of these upper-classmen felt that they might as well go down their sorrows in a coke and forget that they ere ever so foolish as to try for a college diploma. It hasn't all been just one round of fun, punctuated with an occasional orgy of cramming.

It has taken work, and plenty of it, active leadership, participation in a countless number of activities and a gradual broadening of personality to make an N. N. C. senior.

Is it worth it? We know, even before we ask the question that it certainly is. If we may be pardoned for the obvious plug for our Alma Mater, we'll expand our chest and admit that our graduates rank second to none, and that the average N. N. C. student has a head start in life when he leaves the campus.

In the first place he has so much to live up to, that it presents a constant challenge to him to be at his best constantly. N. N. C. has placed her ideals high enough so that it takes more than a Casper Milquetoast to follow through. Although few ever completely reach the star to which they have hitched their wagon, the continuous upward look cannot help but make one a better person.

Every graduating class is missed when it leaves the campus, but we know that each one has gone out to make its particular contribution to the world. We salute the class of 1944, and wish them all possible good fortune as they begin a round of commencement activities. They're a class of which the entire school may well be proud.

Scenes took place on the roof top of the Prophet Hosea's home. The staging was unusually beautiful with palms, grass, plants, and flowers, and the temple in the distance. The costumes also were to be commended for their elegance.

Solos included in the play were by Dorothy Nees and Dave Sullivan. Dallas Quick, Charlotte Hume and Professor Alline Swann assisted with the music. Music scores in the play were written by A. J. Finkbeiner especially for the occasion.

Chairmen of committees included: Kathleen Squires, costumes; Winifred Hudson, programs.

KNOWLEDGE

Whoever made the statement, "Ignorance is bliss," was either making a feeble attempt to escape responsibility, or was enjoying that realm of fantasy in which all other idiots find happiness.

The law does not excuse ignorance; success is not the lot of those who enjoy illiteracy; the world is not looking to unlettered men and women to guide them out of the turmoil of this present day. God himself, through the inspired words of the Apostle Paul, commands, "Add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge." (I Peter 1:5).

No one likes to be called plain "dumb." It is the desire of every normal person to increase in knowledge. It is the lack of this essential characteristic that causes accidents, tragic mistakes, and many embarrassing moments.

However, knowledge does not consist of the number of years one has been in college, nor in the number of letters following his name. Knowledge does not denote a meaning so shallow. The Psalmist was right when he said, "the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom, a good understanding have all they that do His commandments." Here, then, is the very foundation of wisdom—God. Learning is of no avail unless it is founded on God.

In the Christian life wisdom is necessary that our ethics might be as they should. Dr. R. T. Williams makes the striking statement that more harm has been done to the holiness movement through poor ethics than through all the combined critics. It is necessary that we learn how to be better reflectors of the Christ we have dwelling within us. We can do no better than to follow in the steps of our Master, for "he increased in wisdom and stature and in the favor of God and man."

Then let us learn, and in the learning come to a knowledge of the truth. 'Tis the mark of a Christian.

HARTMAN IS M. C. AT REQUEST HOUR

On Friday evening, April 14, with Laurel Hartman as Mistress of Ceremonies, the associated students of Northwest Nazarene college presented a request program comprised of readings, vocal and instrumental numbers.

The program was as follows: Vocal trio, God Will Defend You, Harmonettes; piano solo, Valcik by Mokrejas, Lyndal Pullen; vocal solo, Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes, Dorothy Johnston; a reading, White Cliffs of Dover, Peggy Oldfield, accompanied by Bette Johnston; vocal solo, Then You'll Remember Me, Ethel Schie-the, trumpet solo, The Palms, Virgil Vail; vocal solo, I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked, Neva Newell; vocal trio, The Rosary, Silver Chords; piano solo, Malaguna, Charlotte Hume; vocal solo, I Know a Name, Talbot Eckel; baritone horn solo, Friends, Ray Cox; a reading, The Raven, Roy Butchart; vocal solo, Harbor Lights, Paul McNutt; piano solo, There's A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight, with variations, Mrs. Swann.

CAMPUS CHATTER

We're tired of the usual couples . . . we wonder who the lady in green is, but no one will open the door to look . . . besides we'd have to crawl over our anonymous Campus Chatterer . . . It says here, in small print. This week we present Who's Who? And if you know, tell us your brand of Vitamin capsules . . . we'd like to be good too.

From loss of words we have chosen to draw you a few pictures. The man in the white collar, pompadour, and shiny up-turned nose is the one you've seen pursuing that young lady whose brother works the ivory in Gideon.

Now to your left you'll see a lady in purple with wide eyes and high voice trying to say, "Bunny would rather be a Democrat than be President." He decided to be left holding the (money) bag.

Next in line is a young . . . yes, I know he's losing his hair . . . man who, if you edge up close, will whisper in your ear, "Ah like 'em with long dank hair and eyes, 'an kin play the piana." He told me of a young visitor from Portland that had the first two requisites. Someone should warn her to learn to play the piano. Flash! The latest communique says . . . "She can play the piano!"

Oh, don't rush away, for we haven't finished yet. If you'll step over here we'll show you an original pastel. It was just finished by two roommates. The painting is of two young men. On the right is the wavy-haired licensed preacher who is frank about his desire to lead the singing at a small church near Caldwell. The other is darker in complexion; though no more handsome than his brother, he has developed, or should we say cultivated, a strong passion for that old field of fine arts known as portraiture, and frequents Prof. Finkbeiner's studio.

Now we are coming to the silhouettes of various dignitaries on our green campus. You'll recognize the first two profiles as those of a mother and daughter whom you've seen together lately in the dining hall. The daughter sits alone during services, next to the aisle with a vacant seat on the side. Whenever an usher asks her if someone can sit there she excitedly replies, "Is he Young? Is he Young?"

The next silhouette you'll quickly recognize as "that happy man who rolls about in a black sedan." Notice his lovely smile and sleek brown hair. It's difficult to keep him in a picture because he's afraid of a frame-up. If you see him walk around the campus, his very jerky steps tell you, "I ain't gonna go steady."

Well, it's nearly closing time, so if you want to enter our WE MIX EM, YOU MATCH EM contest, send in a homogenized list of these names below, well matched to us. Prizes may be awarded in our next issue.

Here's the list:

- | Women | Men |

Busy Schedule Keeps A Capella Traveling

Promptly at nine o'clock on April 16, the a capella choir left Morrison hall to journey to Boise First church to attend Sunday school and to give a complete concert in the regular morning service of the church.

Following the concert the members of the choir were entertained in various Nazarene homes of that vicinity. A few were delighted to have dinner in the homes of some of their classmates whose homes are in Boise.

Because the afternoon concert had been cancelled, the choir members were free to rest until 4:30 p. m. when they reported back to the church.

Eagle, Idaho, was the scene of the evening meal which was enjoyed in the Methodist church, pastored by Rev. M. M. Finkbeiner, former student of N. N. C.

The evening concert, which began at 8 p. m. proved to be enjoyable to a good sized audience and the choir returned home early. Sunday night, April 23, the choir sang at First church here in Nampa. Sunday morning they presented a program at Kuna Nazarene church, and they sang at Ten Mile in the afternoon.

JUNIORS DIG DOWN DEEP TO FLASH WITH THE CASH

Activity is increasing to a buzz as the end of school draws near and the date of departure creeps steadily closer.

Among the duties to be executed before we bid our Senior class farewell is to salute them in the Junior-Senior banquet.

The Juniors, as they pull out the old cash stocking and dig deep have some doubts as to the feasibility of the custom, but the Seniors don't mind.

The matter of dates is rather a sticky one, but Susie Pruett helped Dan Cupid and supplemented the shy bow and arrow with a more persuasive weapon, the graphite club.

HAROLD BROWN, EDITOR

Aviation Cadet Ernie Siefarth writes: "We will soon start our last new schedule . . . we will receive ten hours of flight training in a cub. That is the same ship that I took my primary W. T. S. training in over at Caldwell.

"Our section should finish up here around May 15. In a way I will hate to leave Akron, and then in other ways I'm glad to be just one step nearer to those silver wings and gold bars.

"When I stop and think of it we do live a wonderful life here compared with that of the average G. I. It does, at times, get very monotonous, but I also imagine that it gets monotonous to live in a fox hole and be shot at all of the time.

"All through "D" section I have been squadron adjutant, and have lived in officers' quarters, I never do any work anymore. There is a clean-up detail every morning to sweep and mop the floor. Also I can get up when I please, as long as I'm ready to go by 6:30 a. m. Next month it is going to be even worse. I have been chosen as group adjutant. That means that I am second in command of the detachment.

"It's really a good deal, though. Now not only will I get my room swept, but I will also have my bed made every day. By the time next month is up I will be so lazy that I will never be able to do anything again."

ENSIGN RICKARD MARRIES FORMER N. N. C. STUDENT

Information has been received from the East, telling of the marriage of Miss LaVerne Sabin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sabin, Redmond, Ore., and Ensign LaVerne Rickard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rickard, Camas, Wash. The ceremony was performed the evening of March 4 in Wollaston, Mass., at the chapel of Eastern Nazarene college with Dr. Albert Harper officiating.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin, made princess style, with yoke of lace and seed pearls. Her finger tip veil was held in place by a coronet of tulle and lace and she carried an orchid on a white Bible with streamers of sweet peas.

Miss Janet Smith was maid of honor and Robert Emmel acted as best man. The ushers were John Shields and Stephen Nease.

Proceeding the ceremony, Kenneth Pearsall sang "What God Has Promised" and as the couple knelt at the altar for prayer, Mr. Pearsall sang "Savior, Like a Shepherd, Lead Us."

A reception was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Harper. Ensign and Mrs. Rickard are now making their temporary home in Wollaston, while he completes his training at Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Boston.

Mrs. Rickard attended NNC as a Freshman in the year 1942 and '43 where she took an active part in girls' sports.

Mr. Rickard was valedictorian of the graduating class of last year. Before graduation, he was a member of the Junior Varsity basketball team for two years, a member of the Honor Society for four years, and Crusader editor.

Lowman-Teare Wed At Wichita Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Lowman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lowman of Seattle, Wash., and Lt. Darrell Teare, son of Rev. and Mrs. Laten Teare of Bismarck, North Dakota, took place Sunday, April 23, at 4:00 p. m. at the First Church of the Nazarene in Wichita, Kansas, former home of the bride.

Frank Lowman, Jr., of the United States Marine Corps, and brother to the bride, was the best man, and Mrs. Frank Lowman, Jr., (Clee Adams) was matron of honor. Both are former NNC students.

Four other attendants included friends living in Wichita and a cousin of the bride as flower girl.

The wedding was semi-formal and the bride wore a gown of ivory taffeta.

A reception of ninety friends and relatives followed the marriage ceremony.

Lt. and Mrs. Teare attended NNC in the years 1941-42 and 1942-43. Both were very active in school activities. Darrell was treasurer of his freshman class, a ministerial student, and Crusader business manager. Dorothy was secretary of the freshman class, assistant Oasis photographer, program chairman of the SLA society, secretary of that society, and secretary of the athletic-literary council.

Spanish Class Feted At Colorful Dinner

With each senior and seniorita dressed in gay and colorful Spanish costumes, members of the Spanish classes held a dinner Friday evening, April 21, at Morrison dining hall. Professor, or Maestro, Roy Knight was toastmaster and presided at the affair.

A quartet composed of Dallas, Quick, Rose Hartman, Darrell Larkin and Virginia Kirley sang, and Virginia Kirley read the twenty-third psalm in Spanish, and commented on it. Professor Knight acted as interpreter.

The menu included hot tamales, a Spanish salad and olives, and much of the conversation was in Spanish.

At the close of the dinner, a grand promenade, in which the costumes of each student were displayed was featured.

Noted Missionary To Speak Here Thursday

Under the auspices of the Nampa Council of Federated Church Women, and the American Mission of the Lepers, Mrs. Julia Lake Kellersberger, who spent 24 years conducting a mission for lepers in Belgian Congo, will speak to the students of Northwest Nazarene college on Thursday morning, April 27 at 11 a. m.

Mrs. Kellersberger, who possesses a lively and cheerful personality comes from Alabama and is the author of two books, the most recent being "God's Ravens" an autobiography, and the story of Dr. Kellersberger's work. She has now planned a speaking tour which includes engagements in 40 American cities.

Her husband, Dr. Kellersberger, the new general secretary of the American Mission to the Lepers which has its headquarters in New York City, has just returned from Belgian Congo where he was called by the natives "the man who was not afraid to touch us."

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

Palma Bundy: Can't be called a person of the public, but underneath her quiet reserve is a pleasant smile, and a droll humor that pleases everyone who knows her.

John Cramer: Johnny, in his two years in the Academy, has been an outstanding athlete. Majoring in basketball, he is a two year letterman. He plans to join the Navy in July.

Frances Gause: Better known as Fran she hails from Union Gap, Wash. She has been at N. N. A. for two years and has been a persistent A student.

John Harmon: Johnny Lee is one of our most popular fellows. Also an athlete, he is a letterman in basketball this year. He is a member of the Naval V-6 reserve, and plans to leave graduation day for the Navy.

Bernice Holland: Bernice is quiet and shy, but always is in for fun. She is senior class secretary and has attended N. N. A. for the past two years.

Myrna Lancaster: We can't say much about Myrna, because she isn't here in Nampa with us in spirit most of the time, letting her thoughts wander instead to Far-ragut. She is vice president of the N. N. Aces, and has been here for one year.

Bruce Maxey: With Hi Sister, or Brother, we introduce "Bug Eyes" Maxey. Bruce is a member of the Academy mixed quartet, and a loyal Oly. He plans to join the Army air corps soon.

Doris Rodman: Anyone who does not know "Dee" Rodman, proficient player of the French horn, has missed a lot. She is an Alpha Delt and has attended N. N. A. for two years.

Wesley Smith: Quiet and shy, Wes was our sergeant of arms until he gave up his job in order to work off campus. Wes made a good representative on the student council and was a loyal academy booster.

Frances Webber: Francie, a small, cute senior, has been active in all school affairs and is a loyal S. L. A. Francie comes from LaGrande, Ore., and plans to come back next year.

Bill Wilson: President of our Academy To Enter 35 In Music Festival

Thirty-five students of N. N. A. will participate in the National Music Festival which is to be held here in Nampa, Friday, April 28.

N. N. A. will enter as a "B" school and will be ably represented by ten different groups, soloists and instrumental performers.

All participants are members of some part of the music department although several take private lessons. Mrs. Harold Bomgardner and Mar-sons from the college instructors.

Dorothy Peterson, Dallas Quick, Jorie Reed will accompany the various performers.

The entries are as follows: the Girls' sextet will sing two numbers, Lift Thine Eyes, by Mendelssohn; and Night Song, by Chokey.

Marshall Griffith will sing a baritone solo, The Road Is Calling, by Walter; a soprano solo by Carol Sharp, Down in the Forest, by Ronald; a piano solo by Lynda Pullen, Gavotte in Brina, Bach.

The mixed quartet will present two selections, As Torrents in Summer, by Edgar; and A Forest by DeRose. Erma Fulcher, soprano, will sing By the Bend in the River, by Edwards; Bernice Holland will play a marimba selection; Paul McNutt will sing a baritone solo, Where're You Walk by Handel. The Girls' trio will sing two selections, Celtic Lullaby, by Robertson, and Moon Market, by Weaver.

The Girls' glee club will sing The Night Has a Thousand Eyes, by Cain, and A Spirit Flower, by Campbell, Tripton and Freherue.

The music department for the Academy is under the direction of Mrs. Carol Gish.

student body, Bill is a popular man but not for the women, as his mind is well occupied by one at home named Thalia.

Dick Painter: A native of Nampa, he has been around N. N. A. as long as any other senior. Dick's hobby seems to be fishing, hunting, and you know all those types of sports. He intends to join some branch of the service at the close of school.

Before we delve into the mystic depths of academic romance there is something to be said of one not at all mystical but who is austere-ly plain. The preceding is merely to find cause to tell B. H. thanks even if she do stab me from behind.

Loveland Corta Featured In Lyceum Program Tuesday

"The man who makes good music popular," Loveland Corta, concert tenor, entertained the students of Northwest Nazarene college on Tuesday afternoon, April 25, with a varied program of classical music. He was sponsored by the National Assemblies program. The one o'clock class was moved up to the regular chapel period and the program was held in the afternoon.

Personalities

EARL ROGERS

Our energetic personality of the week concerns an amicable senior, Earl Rogers.

He has been a prominent leader of Christian activities at N. N. C. He is the president of the Christian Worker's band, vice president of the missionary society chaplain for the Alpha Delta Phi society. He has been an officer in the Men's club and was elected this year to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

His major is theology and he says, "My future is in the hands of the draft board or District Superintendent."

His hobby is reading, and reforming his roommate, he says, and his favorite sports are dinging around with Tyres. He is becoming especially proficient in the latter.

Did you hear about the moron who pulled out his teeth in order to have more gum to chew.

MIRIAM EASTLY

Capable, full of fun and always on the job are traits of Miriam Eastly who has earned her spot in our personality parade.

She was born in Nampa and moved to Yakima, Wash., some years ago so that she might be able to go away to college at Nampa.

When interviewed, she had just finished a comprehensive and said she could not remember much of her past, but did remember that her hobbies were sports and reading the funny papers until she had to study too much.

She modestly mentioned, upon being questioned, that she was a member of Zeta Kappa Rho honor society with a grade point average of 2.9.

OLYMPIANS WIN OVER LAMBDA'S IN SECOND SOCIETY LEAGUE GAME

Ruling Of Umpire Contested By Fans

BY WALLY ROSEBORO

The Olys took their second game of the society league Friday night, April 21, 3 to 2, the book says, but I contend that it was 4 to 2. If the umpire of that game will look in the 1944 official rule book, rule 10, section six he will find that I am right. Anyway the Olys are now leading the league.

The Olys went to bat first and made two runs on one hit. The hit was made by Vail, Smith, the LSP pitcher, struck out the last two men in the inning. The LSP's went down one two three in their half of the inning. Two of the outs were strike-outs.

Hills started the second inning for the Olys with a nice clean hit but the next three men went down in consecutive order, leaving Hills to die on third. The LSP's suffered practically the same fate as the Olys except the lone man that they got on walked.

The Olys went down to three consecutive strike-outs in the first part of the third inning. The LSP's fared much better. They started out with two outs. Nichols got the first hit of the game for the LSP's followed by an error for Lloyd and a free ticket to Smith, and a hit by Cozad. This little rally netted the LSP's two runs, the only scores of the game for the Lambdas.

The fourth inning was the inning in which the Olys were robbed out of a run, in this writer's opinion. Hempel and Cross started the inning by making two outs for the red and white. Hills came through with another hit followed by Midby who got on on an error and scored Hills. Midby got to third and Wismer struck out but the catcher dropped the ball. Since first base was occupied the umpire ruled Wismer out. This was incorrect (rule 44, sec. 6).

In their last bats the LSP's failed to score so the issue was dropped.

They will consider it a misdemeanor to pour valuable oil down drains or drive automobiles that will travel only 15 miles on a gallon of gasoline. The consequence is they will demand and get more and better commodities and service for their money. They will realize that our past prodigious waste must come to an end if we are to have the high standards of living to which we look forward. The war has made clear to all of us the distinction between the essentials of the good life and sheer reckless waste." OLY'S VS. SLA'S LEAGUE OPENER

The society baseball league started out a week ago last Monday with the Oly's winning over the SLA's. The game was called at the end of the third inning because it had exceeded its time limit.

Each team, although affected much as the major leagues are by a lack of manpower, had a good representation and they furnished a very interesting ball game. It might be mentioned however, that it took them nearly an hour to collect their teams.

The SLA's started off at bat with Leroy Bates as the lead-off hitter. He was walked by Vail the Oly pitcher and then stole second on the first pitched ball to Sporleder who also walked. Then Bates and Sporleder pulled a double steal on the first pitch to Hobza who struck out for the first out. Smith, who was batting in clean up position, knocked a grounder just inside third base that rolled out to left field, with both runners scoring on the play, with Smith going to second. Cramer then sacrificed Smith to third for the second out. Rudeen, the next batter was walked and Hempel struck out for the third out.

The Olys first batter was Hills who was walked. He stole second and third on the next two pitches to Cross and then came home on a wild pitch. The next two batters, Cross and Teel, struck out. Hempel was walked. He advanced to third during Vail's turn at bat and came home when the catcher missed Vail's third strike. Frazier flew out to the second baseman for the third out. That is the way the first inning of society baseball went. It wasn't very high class ball but everyone had a lot of fun.

The next inning the SLA's made four runs but didn't get a single hit. They made all their runs on errors, walks and wild pitches. The Olys started out by getting a man on first by virtue of an error on the catcher after the batter had struck out. Then Bob Wismer got the first hit of the game. This hit brought Lee in for the only Oly score of the inning. The next three batters went down to Sporleder's well controlled pitching, leaving Wismer to die on base.

The third-inning started with Sporleder getting on on an error by the short stop. The next batter walked and Sporleder was caught off third for the first out. The next two batters fanned to make three outs and no scores. The Oly's started with a strike out then came through with two base hits by Frazier and Lee. Wismer then hit one to the short-stop who made a wild throw to 1st and Frazier scored. Haldy the next man up got another hit which scored Lee and Wismer. Tish then came to bat and struck out but the catcher dropped the ball and Haldy scored to win the game seven to six.

ON THE SPOT

By SMITH

If all those who continually gripe at an umpire's decision in a baseball game (or any other game for that matter) had a chance to fill his shoes in just one closely contested ball game, it is doubtful if they would gripe again unless they were totally without a bit of sympathy in their being. An umpire is "on the spot" consistently and since he is a human being very capable of committing errors, he naturally makes mistakes. I believe if we were all a little better acquainted with the difficulties and disadvantages under which an umpire has to work we would better be able to control our "razzing."

The first of these disadvantages is that he has to make his decisions quick and sure (at least quick). He very seldom has the opportunity to think decisions out as those on the sidelines or playing in the game do. He must depend on a split second decision and stick to it, even if he knows later that he was wrong.

Then an umpire sees a play from only one line of sight whereas the spectators and players see it from all sides. It is impossible for an umpire to be omnipresent. He has to make a decision from just one vantage point whether it be the best or not. A play may be "out" but look entirely "safe" from the umpire's viewpoint and his job is not to guess but to call it as he sees it.

The breaks may be going such that it looks like the umpire is favoring one team over another, but it is doubtful if this is true in very many cases. It is undoubtedly true in some instances, but I hardly think it would be so in any of our society games in which the umpire cares little at all which side wins since he is not a member of either. Those who claim an umpire is "sold out" to one team are not reflecting on his character but on their own for thinking such a thing.

All in all it takes a "heap of playing" before we learn to take the umpire's decision the way he calls it without quibbling. We learn sooner or later that we are hurting no one but ourselves. It doesn't hurt the umpire or the other team any, it just makes them think less of us. And a team that is all "het up" over an umpire's decision cannot possibly play at their best. Many a team has lost because of this fact. And the poorest excuse for losing a game is to say that the referee was against you. This may be true in the sense that you "thought" he was against you and with this attitude it was impossible for you to play your best and the result was you lost.

Naturally there are good and bad umpires just as there are good and bad of anything else. However even the best are not perfect and so the next time you feel like griping at a decision ask yourself if you could do any better. If you can then go out and take over and more power to you, brother!
